DETAILED ACTION

Specification

The disclosure remains objected to because of the following informalities:

Some of the subject matter disclosed in the specification is entirely outside the bounds of the presently claimed invention. As pointed out by Applicant, all claims appeared to read directly on Fig. 411, it is not seen where the specification of from 10-50 pages with not adequately support this figure. While it is appreciate that a great deal of work is required to comply with this requirement, the burden of providing a disclosure to the public in compliance with the statues is a far greater one.

Appropriate correction is required.

Drawings

The corrected drawings were received on 3/03/05. These drawings are approved.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

Claim 3 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 3 depends with the canceled claim 2. Did applicant intend for this claim to be canceled?

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

Claims 1, 3-6 remain rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Kitano (U.S Patent No. 5,870,267) for the reasons recited in the last Office action.

Claims 1, 3-6 also remain rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Kawai et al (U.S Patent No. 6,560,164) for the reasons recited in the last Office action.

Regarding the limitation "in the invent that the temperature is below a predetermined temperature range" recited in claim 1, under broadest reasonable interpretation, temperature range can be any value, such as infinitive.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 3/03/05 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Examiner has thoroughly reviewed Applicant's arguments but firmly believes that the two cited references reasonably and properly meet the claimed limitation as rejected.

Applicant's argument - the present invention is to prevent attempts to intentionally cause malfunction of a circuit by applying external heating or cooling. Changing the temperature of an integrated circuit outside of its safe operating temperature can cause unpredictable behavior of the logic within the circuit.

Examiner's response -- In response to applicant's argument that the references fail to show certain features of applicant's invention, it is noted that the features upon which applicant relies (i.e, prevent attempts to intentionally cause malfunction of a circuit by applying external heating or cooling. Changing the temperature of an integrated circuit outside of its safe operating temperature can cause unpredictable behavior of the logic within the circuit) are not recited in the rejected claim(s). Although the claims are interpreted in light of the specification, limitations from the specification are not read into the claims. See In re Van Geuns, 988 F.2d 1181, 26 USPQ2d 1057 (Fed. Cir. 1993).

Moreover, Applicant's argument – claim 1 is limited to "under temperature detection".

Examiner's response -- Similarly as noted above, in response to applicant's argument that the references fail to show certain features of applicant's invention, it is noted that the feature upon which applicant relies (i.e., under temperature detection) is not recited in the rejected claim(s). Although the claims are interpreted in light of the specification, limitations from the specification are not read into the claims. See In re Van Geuns, 988 F.2d 1181, 26 USPQ2d 1057 (Fed. Cir. 1993).

Therefore, these claims are not seen to distinguish the present invention over the prior art.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within

TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
